Dingley Arterial Project

Springvale Road to Perry Road, Keysborough

Project overview

VicRoads will build the next 3.5km section of the Dingley Arterial in Keysborough, providing the missing road link between Westall Road and the Dandenong Bypass.

The Dingley Arterial will help keep people moving. It will be an important east-west route for motorists and freight operators wanting to access growing industrial hubs like Keysborough.

Once completed, the new road will provide a more-connected road network for people in the south-eastern suburbs. This will help revitalise central Dandenong – one of six new Central Activities Districts.

Motorists aren’t the only group to benefit from this $74.6 million project.

The project will assist on-road public transport and improve bus travel times by reducing traffic and congestion along Cheltenham Road and Springvale Road.

Another project feature – to benefit cyclists and pedestrians – is a new path to be built alongside the roadway, which will link with popular shared-paths along Westall Road, the Dandenong Bypass and the EastLink Trail.

Identified in the Victorian Transport Plan, it is expected that the Dingley Arterial will help attract greater investment in the region through better east-west road links and access to the EastLink corridor.

Background

A 19km land reservation for the full arterial road link between Warrigal Road, Moorabbin and the South Gippsland Freeway at Dandenong South has been in place for many years.

Several sections of the route have already been built, including the Westall Road extension, the South Road extension and the Dandenong Bypass.

This latest 3.5km section will complete a continuous 11km direct route from the South Gippsland Highway in Dandenong South to Heatherston Road in Springvale and is expected to carry up to 35,000 vehicles a day.

What’s completed?

Completed sections include:

- Westall Road extension – 2.8km from Heatherston Road to Springvale Road
- South Road extension – 1km from Warrigal Road to Old Dandenong Road (one lane each way)
- Dandenong Bypass – 4.7km from the South Gippsland Highway to Perry Road
